USING THIS CATALOGUE

Age ranges and descriptions are as accurate as we can make them but are only a guide: for further advice on any product please contact the marketing department at ESB head office in Cheltenham.

INSPECTION COPIES FOR TEACHERS

You can get an inspection copy of any textbook (sorry, not audio-visual materials) you are thinking of buying in class sets. If you then buy 12+ copies of textbooks direct from ESB, EB or the IB, you may be entitled to a discount. Please ask for details.

In addition to inspection copies we offer a range of other services to the language teaching community. If you are organising a teachers' meeting, a language day or any other kind of languages promotion, we can attend ourselves or send an appropriate boxed selection of relevant books and materials. With suitable notice we can arrange presentations and workshops.

For more information please contact our marketing department on 01242 245252.

geni@! A1 plus

LANGENSCHIEDT

This special edition of geni@! is designed for pupils who have some prior knowledge of German to give them a fast track route into learning the language. The first five chapters are constructed in a way that enables the pupils to revise and reinforce all the most important language structures and grammar points quickly. The remaining part of the book is the same as the original geni@! course and all the additional resources which accompany geni@! can be used with geni@! A1 plus. Please visit our website for details.

Logisch!

LANGENSCHIEDT

Logisch! is a clearly structured two level course for teenage learners of German. Each of the 16 chapters uses teenage focussed topics and experiences - presented in short dialogues - and written texts as the centre of the course material and each task in the coursebook has a corresponding exercise in the accompanying workbook. Pronunciation training and grammar points are closely linked together and all the grammar needed to complete the exercises is summarised in tables alongside the questions throughout the chapters. A summary of the topic covered is given at the end of each chapter and a full vocabulary list is included in the workbook. A special feature of Logisch! is the CD-Rom vocabulary trainer which can be used as a speaking glossary, to print out index cards of vocabulary and which can be used to translate to and from German.

Magnet

KLETT

Magnet is a three-volume course characterised by a clear, linear structure that supports learners through short, manageable units and repetition of material. Each volume contains 10 chapters plus 5 "intermediate stops" that offer in-depth key skills training. Each chapter begins with a motivating introductory dialogue followed by a further three sections on the topic of the chapter and a final overview at the end. The course has an emphasis on regional studies and looks at all the German-speaking countries. Magnet Deutschland which accompanies level two of the course consists of 21 units divided into 3 subject areas: everyday life, politics, and history.

Planet

HUEBER

Covering 4 topics, each split into 4 chapters, Planet relates stories from the lives of German teenagers ensuring that students learn up-to-date language relevant to them and their interests. Revision sections are provided every 2 chapters to cover the the material already learnt and this spiralling construction ensures that new material is always accepted along with the known material. There is also Zum Schluss which offers complex reading texts to practise reading strategies, cultural info and ideas for project work at the end of each topic. Colourful and always interesting, Planet takes a lot of care in making sure that the context is always uppermost in its thoughts for those who will be using it.

deutsch.com

Kursisa, A/Pilypaityte, L/Szakaly, E and others
HUEBER

With a totally modern approach to teaching German to teenagers deutsch.com makes use of all the latest forms of communication to motivate students in their learning. Using a task based communicative approach and working with multilingualism as a basis for learning, the course uses the similarities and differences between languages as a starting point for learning German. This approach is expanded upon and applied to both core vocabulary and grammar points. The course uses websites, internet forums, and blogs to provide a wealth of sources of up-to-date day-to-day German language and to give a broad perspective on the German way of life, the realities faced by German teenagers, and as a method of combining cultural information with teenage targeted content. The 18 chapters in the book are divided into 6 modules: the initial module contains 3 chapters of two double pages each which introduce the language. The remaining modules have 6 pages: two double page spreads covering grammar, vocabulary and sentence structures, a magazine page with cultural and topical information, and a summary page revising all the content of the chapter. If you are looking for a fresh approach to teaching German to teenagers deutsch.com is a great starting point.

Ideen

Krenn, W/Puchta, H
HUEBER

Ideen is a task based communicative course for teenagers designed to get them talking. Getting teenage students involved in discussions about themselves is not easy but Ideen uses subjects and material far removed from everyday events such as articles on teen idols and the qualities they possess to survive in today's world to catch student's interest and provoke discussions. These subjects are then compared to regular daily events using a wide range of text formats including magazine and newspaper articles, interviews, songs, poems and photo stories.

Willkommen bei uns

Faigle, I
ELI

Willkommen bei uns is a beginner's course to German civilisation, which has been written for use during the first three years of secondary school and for young adults. It is suitable for use with any kind of German language course. It provides a warm welcome to students on their journey of discovery through the society, traditions and current affairs of the German-speaking countries of Europe. The topics, current and traditional, are presented in an attractive, modern context, with plenty of interesting facts and games to make learning as much fun as possible.

Aspekte

LANGENSCHIEDT

Aspekte is an intermediate course which builds on students' previous knowledge to take them to an advanced level of language learning over the 3 levels. The course follows a modular structure with Lernzielkasten at the start of every chapter indicating the aims of the chapter. Each chapter also includes a Porträt adding a cultural side to the language learning and the accompanying DVD contains film clips on each topic to support comprehension. The workbook revises and strengthens the coursebook material with more in depth exercises and self-evaluation sections so students can keep track of their progress. The coursebook concludes with a comprehensive Redemittel section and a clearly laid out summary of the most relevant grammar points encountered through the book.

Ausblick

HUEBER

Ausblick offers a wealth of material on topics which focus on the lives, experiences and interests of German teenagers. The texts used throughout the book are taken from the internet, teenage magazines and literature to ensure their relevance to young people and include a wide range of projects. The course combines grammar and vocabulary work with written work so that students pick up and learn linguistic rules as they work. The workbook includes additional vocabulary and grammar exercises and an oral training programme which focuses on points which students often find difficult, together with written exercises helping students to create their own texts, and cultural pages linked to the topic in each chapter. The teacher's book offers games and photocopiable sheets on the themes covered, transcripts of the listening texts and answer keys for the course- and workbook.

Berliner Platz NEU

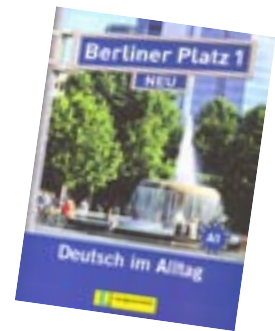

Lemcke, C/Rohrmann, L/Scherling, T LANGENSCHIEDT

Berliner Platz NEU has a new, clear structure and visual layout but like the original version concentrates on everyday language and prepares students for typical situations encountered in a German-speaking environment. The exercises in the Lehrbuch are clearly formulated to cater for the needs of students with no prior language learning experience. The written material is supported by illustrations giving students an immediate understanding of the topics covered. There is also a supplementary Landeskundeheft with additional information on German culture and society. Especially noteworthy are the pronunciation training and Deutsch verstehen sections which allow students to see and absorb the new material in the form in which it is used in daily life. The Intensivtrainer offers further vocabulary and grammar exercises for revision of the topics and a grammar summary making it an ideal supplement for students with restricted class hours.

Ja genau!

This series is specifically developed for learners who have little or no previous experience of learning German. Each textbook is made up of seven units with accompanying exercise pages and audio-CD containing the listening texts for the workbook part of the course. Pronunciation exercises are integrated into chapters from the start and at the end of each chapter there is a "bridging page" which uses photos with key vocabulary to introduce the next topic. Progression through the course is clear and well structured with numerous tasks to encourage differentiation. Overall the course adopts a hands-on, fun approach to language learning with mini-projects involving the class actively in their learning. Extra information about intercultural communication is also included.

Optimal

Müller, M/Rusch, P/Scherling, T and others
LANGENSCHIEDT

This course is colourfully presented in a lively, magazine-style format. Eight-page chapters cover current topics and texts from everyday life in Germany, Austria and Switzerland. Separate pages concentrating on pronunciation, vocabulary and grammar offer learning tips and internet projects for further practice. Grammar is clearly explained and supplemented by summaries for revision. Each chapter of the workbook ends with a revision test and the final chapter of each level contains a training test on all the new material and skills acquired. Alphabetical vocabulary lists, a pronunciation summary and irregular verb tables complete the book. Optimal corresponds to levels A1, A2 and B1 of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages.

Schritte International

HUEBER

Schritte International is a new edition of Schritte, adapted for adolescent and adult learners worldwide. Each chapter of the coursebook begins with a photo-story which introduces the topic for the chapter, the material to be learned, and the linguistic structures which will be practised in the following pages. Using a variety of clearly laid out exercises students see and practice new vocabulary in its correct grammatical context and have the opportunity to work out the grammar rules for themselves. The new material is then re-inforced through a series of exercises covering all four key skills based on authentic sources such as adverts, newspaper articles, invitations, letters, timetables, postcards, emails, public announcements, telephone conversations and radio programmes. Role play exercises involve students in activities such as asking for information, arranging meetings and making telephone calls. Each chapter ends with a Zwischenspiel, a spread of culturally based listening or reading texts with activities. The workbook section contains exercises corresponding to those in the coursebook for additional practice together with full vocabulary lists.

Ziel

Dallapiazza, R-M/Fischer, R/Kilimann, A and others
HUEBER

Ziel takes into account the fact that at intermediate level students may not all have the same knowledge of German language so is flexible in the way it is structured and makes good use of all the multimedia tools now available to students.

Every lesson is made up of seven clearly structured lesson pages (the core learning programme) as well as three overview pages (learning goals, linguistics and grammar) and followed by a double page of photographs for independent project work.

Thematically, every lesson deals with a topic of general interest and, with a view to language acquisition, a defined level-appropriate communicative goal linked to the Common European Framework of Reference. The lesson is divided into individual sections, each of which deal with a linguistic or grammatical aspect of the communicative goal, all leading to the last section of a lesson in which the learner completes a task bringing all the aspects together.

The individual lessons are arranged progressively but can still be varied according to the learner's focus of interest.

Alltag, Beruf & Co.

HUEBER

“Alltag, Beruf & Co” is a course for anyone who needs German language skills for everyday life and for communicating at work. The course provides approximately 50 classroom hours per level, and is suitable for general language courses with a work-related focus as well as in-company courses. The course introduces general language tools which are needed in day-to-day situations as well as work-related situations. Therefore it is suitable for participants of all professional backgrounds.

The coursebook contains 10 lessons with 10 pages each plus a CD with pronunciation exercises and interactive activities.

Each lesson consists of a double page entitled „Im Alltag“ on the individual topic in a general-language context; a double page entitled „Im Beruf“ on the individual topic in a professional context; a magazine page with an entertaining collage covering the lesson topic; a one-page overview entitled „Grammatik und Redemittel“ on grammar and common expressions; and finally four workbook pages with exercises on vocabulary, common expressions, grammar and pronunciation.

The included CD contains pronunciation exercises for the workbook section as well as additional interactive exercises for the course-work section which students can use for independent study.

The teacher's book contains lesson plans and transcripts for the audio texts.

Each volume comes with a vocabulary book organised in table format with the word, a space for its translation, a sample sentence using the word, as well as a vocabulary exercise.

Schreiben in Alltag und Beruf

Seiffert, C
LANGENSCHIEDT

This Intensivtrainer offers a variety of writing exercises for numerous forms of written communication such as emails, letters and faxes and gives examples of useful communicative writing strategies in the workplace.

The material has been designed for learners who are either already working in a German-speaking environment or are preparing to do so and provides the essential aspects of the different forms of written communication and the peculiarities of the various text types that are important in day-to-day life eg. invitations, enquiries, orders, complaints. The individual text types are summarised thematically in chapters and are cross referenced to related texts. Progression in the tasks only takes place with regard to the treatment of individual text types, enabling the text types to be worked on independently of each other. An answer key is included in the appendix along with a topic-based vocabulary list where students own translations can be added.
